In the council's earlier interim polling station review, it had been suggested that this polling station along with ChristChurch Baptist be replaced with two alternative polling stations nearer to the south of the ward. This has been considered, but by moving one or other of the polling stations further south would mean that electors in the middle and north of the ward would have to travel further. As part of the suggestion it was proposed that Handside Hall and Marsden Green Christian Spiritualist Church be used as the alternative stations. This has been investigated and these would not be available.

It is proposed that there will be no changes to the existing arrangement.
